THE ASSOCIATION OF FACULTIES OF PHARMACY OF CANADA 2013-14 ANNUAL REPORT

INTRODUCTION

Significant changes have occurred in academic pharmacy leadership with half of the Canadian Dean positions changing within an approximate 1 year period. Michael Coughtrie replaced Bob Sindelar at British Columbia. The outgoing Deans are Rita Caldwell, Linda Hensman, David Hill, and Henry Mann. Incoming Deans are Carlo Marra (Memorial) and Kishor Wasan (Saskatchewan). Interim Deans are Heather Boon (Toronto) and Carla Dillon (Memorial). These changes will have an impact on AFPC strategic directions and strategies.

2013-14 HIGHLIGHTS

- Launch of new AFPC website in September 2013.
- Launch of e-resource “Informatics for Pharmacy Students”
- Completion of pharmacists-in-training project – March 2014.
- Initiation of new experiential education project in early 2014.
- Reviews and revisions to AFPC strategic plan completed May 2014.

GOVERNANCE

The 1st Annual Meeting of voting members was held on June 11, 2013. This meeting is similar to a major shareholders’ annual meeting in a corporate environment. The voting members approved the 2012 financial statements and the nominations for 2013-14 Board of Director nominations. The 2014 Annual meeting of voting members will be held May 30, 2014 in Saskatoon.

A review of the revised strategic plan was conducted in 2013-14. Suggestions for change were obtained from the June 2013 strategic planning retreat. An adhoc committee reviewed draft versions of the strategic plan (committee members were Andrea Cameron, Tannis Jurgens, Michael Coughtrie and Jean Lefebvre). The vision, mission and strategic goals were revised and the revised statements will be reviewed at the May/June 2014 Council and Board meetings. It is anticipated that the final version of the strategic plan will be approved and available in June 2014.

ADMINISTRATIVE REPORT

Harold Lopatka and Doreen Sproule continue to provide support to AFPC. The following are selected highlights from 2013-14.

- A 2013 corporate minute book was created for Board and Council members. The minute book contains minutes from Board and Council meetings and copies of important corporate documents (e.g., bylaws, policies, reports, etc).
- This is the 2nd complete year that Quick Books has been used for accounting and book-keeping activities. This will allow easier comparisons between 2012 and 2013 financial reports.
- The terms of reference for internal AFPC Council of Faculties standing committees were reviewed and revised (i.e., awards, communications, experiential education, nominations, research, program evaluation / assessment SIG).
- An AFPC funding request entitled “Proposal for a pharmacy educator peer leader network” was submitted to Canada Health Infoway. A pharmacy educator peer leader network will be created to facilitate the integration of the AFPC e-resource into pharmacy faculty curricula with the focus on Infoway priorities. Peer leaders, who will be recruited from each of the faculties, will conduct local integration projects and document their approaches, results and lessons learned. A robust project evaluation will occur with opportunities for scholarship activities. Information about this opportunity has been provided to Council of Faculties and Council of Deans members. AFPC will benefit from the experience of establishing and maintaining a peer leader network, procuring funding for individual faculty members to conduct educational research, identifying strategies for integrating our pharmacists-in-training e-resource into pharmacy curriculum, gaining experience in the development of new evaluation / assessment tools, producing evidence related to the integration of new resources into curricula, and making improvements to our e-resource (version 1). The skills, structures, process and outputs should be transferable to other AFPC projects. We are anticipating a response from Infoway by the beginning of June 2014.

PROGRAMS / SERVICES / PROJECTS

Advocacy - On April 10, 2014 a presentation was made by the Executive Director on behalf of AFPC to the House of Commons Standing Committee on Health which is conducting a study of the best practices and federal barriers related to the scope of practice and skills training of healthcare professionals. The presentation followed the Canadian Pharmacists Association presentation. The focus was on the changing pharmacist manpower situation in Canada. A copy of the AFPC presentation notes are posted on the AFPC website.

Communications – The major communication activity was the official launch of the new AFPC website in September 2013. This culminated substantial work by Doreen Sproule transferring and adding new content to the website. The new home page features new navigation tabs, scrolling pictures, special portals for access, a “what’s new section” and faculty links. The main navigation tabs are; about AFPC, our faculties, meetings/events, resources, awards, advocacy, careers, and education program. Content dating back to 2010 was included. There were no significant concerns or issues reported. Faculty members are being reminded to enter information into their profiles on the website research/education directory. The communications committee co-chairs are Marion Pearson and Tessa Nicholls. Thanks to Rebecca Law our hard working newsletter editor.

Education – The main education activity is the Canadian Pharmacy Education and Research Conference (CPERC). The education committee (Eric Schneider is chair) works with the conference host faculty to plan program content and format for the CPERC conference. The 2014 CPERC has been condensed to a 1 day education session on May 31. The following sessions are planned: Aboriginal Students – Recruitment and Engagement Strategies in Pharmacy Curriculum; Next Generation of Learners – What to Expect; Pharm D Cross Country Update; Innovations in Pharmacy Education and Research Presentations; and Roundtable Discussions. The AFPC conference opening reception on May 30 (7 – 9 pm) and the AFPC Awards Banquet is planned for May 31 – 6:30 pm to 9:30 pm. Special thanks to Kerry Mansell, Heather Dawson, Eric Schneider and Pat Gerber for their efforts in planning the May 31 education day. The 2014 CPERC is being held in partnership with the Canadian Pharmacists Association and the Pharmacists Association of Saskatchewan. The joint Canadian Pharmacists Conference occurs from May 31-June 3, 2014 in Saskatoon.

Experiential education – The PEPC Executive (Angela Kim-Sing, Harriet Davies, and Ann Thompson) provided leadership in submitting a funding request to the Blueprint for Pharmacy to obtain $60K in external funding (over 2 years) for the project “Pharmacy experiential education in hospitals and primary care”. AFPC matched the Blueprint for Pharmacy funding. The project was formally launched in early 2014. The project has 3 phases: i) action on the top 4 national priorities; ii) action on the next 6 priorities; and iii) project evaluation / assessment. The project is planned to be carried out over approximately 2 years. The following describes the 10 national priorities to be reviewed and actioned:

- Development of a national preceptor development program;
- Development of models of experiential education;
- Identification and promotion of how students add value to host organizations;
- Improved recruitment and retention of preceptors;
- Integration of internship into experiential education program;
- Enhance capacity and quality through technology;
- Improved funding for experiential education;
- Development of a guide for year-by- learning outcomes;
- Promotion of experiential education and precepting; and
- Development of best practices for exceptional experiential education sites.

Recruitment for a project manager occurred with the successful candidate to be hired by the end of June 2014. Initially the project manager will establish a project steering committee, and conduct an environmental scan of current and planned experiential education projects in Canada.

Pharmacists-in-training – This project was successfully completed on March 31, 2014. The e-resource that has been developed is unique as we are not aware of any similar educational project for use with pharmacy students. Special thanks to our project manager, Donna Pipa for her hard work and diligence over this project. AFPC benefited through an upgraded website, identification of pharmacy faculty expertise, and from creating an e-resource (a permanent organizational asset). The skills and the actual e-resource (Moodle LMS) should be transferable for use in other projects. The following project achievements occurred in the current year.

- The first version of the e-resource “Informatics for Pharmacy Students” was launched in December 2013 and can be accessed through the student online portal on the AFPC website or directly through the link www.afpc-education.info/moodle/index.php. Five domains are available: 1) Concepts and context in pharmacy informatics; 2) information management and technology; 3) Knowledge management and technology; 4) Privacy, security and confidentiality; and 5) Consumer health informatics. Special thanks to our faculty lead, Marie Rocchi, who has done a significant amount of work, leadership, and expertise in format and content development. Also, thanks to our contributing authors: Lisa Bishop, Kelly Grindrod, Neil de Haan, Doris Nessim, Olavo Fernandes, Monique Pitre, Jeff Barnett, and Donna Pipa.
- Numerous knowledge dissemination activities have occurred. Live demonstrations of the e-resource occurred for faculties and other organizations (e.g., CHI, COACH, AACP, ISMP, CAPSI, etc). Presentations of the e-resource are planned for the Canadian Pharmacists Conference, the Pharmacy Technician Educator’s Association Conference and the E-Health Conference. A poster presentation was given on the e-resource at the February 2014 Infoway Advancing Care Symposium.
- An external evaluation of the project was completed by the University of Alberta, Faculty of Extension. A mixed-method approach was used to capture the experiences of students, faculty, and other health professionals in utilizing the e-resource (Informatics for Pharmacy Students). The following was reported in the evaluation. “Overall, the participants (student, faculty, designers, and others) recognized the potential of the e-resource and felt that it was a positive development. The number of participants who chose to participate in this evaluation was relatively low; consequently, power to definitively make fine-grained statistical conclusions is limited. Through the process of triangulation, we are confident, however, in the overall finding of general satisfaction”.

Program evaluation – In follow-up to the 2013 workshop, a program evaluation / assessment SIG was created. The following are members of the SIG: Chantal Pharand (Chair), John Hawboldt, Anne Marie Whelan, Gilles Leclerc, Luc Bernier, Carmen Vezina, Eric Schneider, Beth Sproule, Maria Bystrin, Laverne Vercaigne, Sheryl Zelenitsky, Yvonne Shevchuk, Ken Cor, Ingrid Price, Bev Fitzpatrick, Lalitha Raman-Wilms and George Pachev. The SIG group met twice: February 19 and May 30, 2014. The terms of reference was approved, and the group is sharing information about evaluation best practices and examining potential national evaluation measures.

Research – Frederic Calon is the chair of the research committee. The committee obtained input from members about current and future AFPC research related priorities and initiatives (through an online survey of faculty members). Preliminary survey results indicate that members support that AFPC should make it a priority to promote and facilitate research among membership and that AFPC should broaden its current priorities for promoting and facilitating research.

Student employment survey – This is the 3rd year that the annual AFPC student employment survey (for new graduates) was administered. The survey was initiated to monitor new graduate employment in light of a changing pharmacist manpower balance (i.e., change from pharmacist shortage to pharmacist surplus). Data collection for the 2014 survey will not be available until all faculties have administered the survey (summer 2014). Jason Johnson (CAPSI President), volunteered to conduct a comparative analysis of the results from the 2012 and 2013 surveys. The results showed there was a slight difference in employment and pharmacy sector between the two years (with fewer unemployed new graduates and more employed in community pharmacy in 2013 compared to 2012). The median starting salary was more in 2013 compared to 2012.
