

SCHOOL OF PHARMACY

DIVISION OF HEALTH SCIENCES

Who We Are

The University of Otago is New Zealand's oldest University and has a strong teaching and research tradition and well-established national and international linkages. It is also one of New Zealand's largest universities, with over 20,000 students, assets in excess of $1.6 billion and 4,000 full time equivalent staff based in Dunedin, Christchurch, Wellington, Auckland and Invercargill.

The University of Otago's School of Pharmacy is the oldest in the country and prides itself on achieving excellence in pharmaceutical care. We aim for excellence in research and research informed teaching in pharmaceutical sciences, clinical pharmacy and social pharmacy.

The Role

The School of Pharmacy invites applications for two full-time, permanent (confirmation path) positions:

- Senior Lecturer in Pharmacy Practice (reference 1802188)
- Senior Lecturer in Pharmacoepidemiology (1802190)

This are excellent opportunities for outstanding individuals with a research informed expertise in Pharmacy Practice or Pharmacoepidemiology, to innovate and provide leadership around our teaching curriculum.

Your Skills and Experience

The successful candidate must have:

- A PhD degree in a relevant area, or a similar level clinical qualification with evidence of research experience;
- Pharmacy qualification registrable in New Zealand;
- Excellent track record of published research, or an ability to develop such a record in Pharmacy practice;
- Experience in designing and delivering in-person and online instructional workshops, training modules, and tutorials;
- Strong commitment to research-informed teaching at a range of levels.
- Experience of teaching and supervising research at undergraduate and postgraduate levels.

Further Details

The University of Otago is well-known for its collegiality and combined with living in the vibrant city of Dunedin provides opportunities for an excellent work-life balance. The Dunedin campus has been ranked as one of the top 15 most beautiful in the world. The city has affordable living, excellent schools, and a great array of activities, ranging from Art and Literature to outdoor activities.

If you are looking for an exciting new opportunity and would like to learn more about joining our team, then please contact Professor Carlo Marra, Dean, School of Pharmacy via email pharmacy.deanpa@otago.ac.nz

Applications for both roles will close on Sunday, 27 January 2019.

APPLICATION INFORMATION

To see a full job description and to apply online go to: www.otago.ac.nz/jobs

Equal opportunity in employment is University policy.

E tautoko ana Te Whare Wananga o Otago i te kaupapa whakaorite whiwhinga mahi.